

WOMEN CARRY REVOLVERS FOR USE ON HUGGER

Sayville Judge Gives Permits After Acquitting One Prisoner.

More than 500 persons, most of whom were women, stormed the doors of the Sayville, L. I., Court House last night to witness the trial of John B. Sluke, charged with having hugged pretty women of Sayville and Bayport. To get rid of them Judge White announced that court was adjourned. The ruse failed, so Judge White left the crowd sitting in court, whispering to his assistants that he would try the case in his office across the street.

After remaining impatiently in the court half an hour the crowd discovered that it had been fooled. In revenge windows were broken, chairs overturned, tables smashed and the court room wrecked.

The principal witnesses against Sluke were Mrs. Oliver LeClair, her daughter, Peggy, and Mrs. James Somerbylke. Mrs. Somerbylke was the only one who could positively identify Sluke as the man who had hugged her. The Justice discharged the man.

Instantly the women complainants asked the Judge for permits to carry revolvers, saying that if a man could not be converted for misbehaving them they did not feel safe. He said he would give them permits.

FEAR OF KILLING GAVE MOTORMAN DEATH SHOCK

Brought Car to Sudden Stop and Saved Woman and Child, but Fell Paralyzed.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—Nervous shock caused by his car almost striking a woman and child was the cause of the death of Harry C. Sutton, a motorman on the Pittsburgh and Charleston street railway line. On Thanksgiving day Sutton's car was running rapidly through Finleyville, near Monongahela, when a woman and child started to cross the track. Sutton stopped the car suddenly, just in time to avoid crushing the pair.

Immediately the car was brought to a standstill Sutton gave a cry and fell unconscious. A physician to whom he was taken found that Sutton had become paralyzed.

He was removed to his home in Monongahela, where he remained unconscious until his death yesterday.

ONE STOLEN KISS WILL COST HIM 60 DAYS IN JAIL

Munfort Could Not Resist Temptation to Embrace Pretty Girl.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Dec. 12.—Frank Munfort, a shoe dealer, has been sentenced to sixty days imprisonment in Goshen jail for stealing a kiss from a girl fourteen years old, in his shoe store.

Recorder Corwin, who sentenced Munfort, said, severely, that it was an aggravated case of larceny, and added: "Such conduct must cease in this city. The next person who comes before me on such a charge will suffer the extreme punishment the law allows."

The girl, who is very pretty, went in Munfort's store to buy a pair of shoes. He, seized by an uncontrollable impulse, threw his arms around her and kissed her. She, shrieking, ran from the store.

Munfort has a good reputation. The charge against him greatly surprised his friends. He pleaded guilty, telling the Recorder he simply could not resist the impulse to steal the kiss. Munfort thinks his sentence is too severe and will appeal from it.

ESCAPES FROM PRISON IN SAUERKRAUT BARREL

Russian Revolutionist Leader Tells of His Flight from a Siberian Dungeon.

Gregory Gershuni, the Russian revolutionary leader who escaped from a Siberian prison in a barrel on Oct. 27, 1905, arrived here from San Francisco yesterday afternoon. He was met at the Cortlandt street ferry by a thousand Russian sympathizers headed by Dr. Paul S. Kaplan, of No. 230 East Broadway. In the evening, at the office of Dr. Kaplan, he told of his escape. He said:

"On Sept. 1, 1904, I was taken prisoner and thrown into the celebrated Schlaberg prison, near St. Petersburg, but later was transferred to Akhtul, an isolated dungeon in the mountains of Siberia.

"There were 100 political prisoners there. One night I was placed in a sauerkraut barrel and the other prisoners nailed a heavy leather cover over the top and the bottom of the barrel, and then filled the top with the sawdust.

"Feeling that the soldiers might come along and test the contents of the cask with a sword, I had an iron plate on my head. Air was let in through two rubber tubes. I was carried into the cellar and let down into the sub-cellar, from which the barrel of cabbage was rolled into an underground passage. I then broke off the leather cover and a stranger from the outside conducted me to the outer end.

"In the open daylight I found myself surrounded with soldiers on all sides and lying in a ditch. But the Russian officers are fools and always look to Heaven. So I got away."

Clean Sweep for Republicans at Keene.

KEENE, N. H., Dec. 12.—The city election yesterday resulted in the reelection of Mayor M. B. V. Clark, Republican, by a vote of 733 to 314 for John B. Donovan, Democrat. For the first time in many years all the members of the Board of Aldermen will be Republican, and there will be only one Democrat in the Common Council.

RAZOR SLASHES FOR THREE AT CARD GAME.

Player Believed He Was Being Cheated, Cut Opponents and Held Off Crowd.

Giuseppe Franco and three other Italians were playing cards early today at No. 537 East Thirteenth street.

Franco lost several games in succession, and then accused two of the other players of cheating. In the mix-up which followed he slashed all three with a razor.

A great deal of excitement followed in the tenement-house, and a score of men started to attack Franco. He frightened them away with his razor, made his way to the roof and escaped. The men he attacked were Salvatore Constantino, Giuseppe Ferrara, and an uncle of the same name. None was badly cut.

Quality You're Sure Of

You're sure of the quality of Triangle Linen Collars—the law guarantees it by requiring that no collar shall be called "Linen" unless it really is linen.

That's a safer guarantee than you get with most 15c. collars, which are stamped merely "high grade," "specially shrunk" and so on—no definite statement as to their quality.

Why pay 15c. for such collars when you can buy Triangle Linen Collars at the same price?

All styles come in quarter sizes—every collar shrunk-to-size to insure an exact, comfortable fit and permanent style. An assortment of seasonable styles will be found in the best stores everywhere. If you don't find the style you want, write us and we will see that you get it.

Men's $5 Blanket Robes at $2.95

GIVE him one of these soft, closely-woven bathrobes that he can lounge in to his heart's content. Nothing like them for comfort! No man likes a narrow, "skimpy" lounging-robe, and these are just the sort he will appreciate, cut wide and full, to give him all the room he wants.

You will wonder at the price, too; cut almost to half—in some cases cut a little more than half, as some of these imported robes sell regularly at $6. But the importer was a little too zealous and was only too glad to rid himself of his surplus stock at our own price.

Here they are for your choosing, just in time for the Christmas buying. All made with a satin yoke lining and taped seams, to make them doubly strong. The designs are neat figures on grounds of gray, brown, blue, maroon or green. Special $2.95

(Siegel Cooper Store, Main Floor, Rear.)
